Speech Language Pathologist

As a Speech Language Pathologist with over 25 years of experience, I feel incredibly fortunate to do work that I truly love. I graduated from the University of South Alabama, where I completed both my undergraduate and graduate studies, and my passion for communication development has only grown stronger throughout the years.

I've had the privilege of working in a variety of settings—outpatient rehab, private speech clinics, and public schools—where I've provided individualized and small group services to children with a wide range of speech and language challenges. Each child I work with brings a unique story and set of strengths, and I strive to tailor therapy in a way that is both meaningful and effective.

One of the most rewarding aspects of my work is partnering with families. I believe that empowering and educating caregivers is a key part of helping children reach their full potential. Whether I'm helping a toddler find their first words or supporting a school-aged child in building their confidence, I'm committed to walking alongside families every step of the way.

At Super Stars, I'm excited to be part of a team that shares my values of compassion, collaboration, and excellence in care. Supporting children in their communication journey is more than a job to me—it's a calling.
